Manage Major Ticket Sales Fairly with a Virtual Waiting Room

The most popular shows, concerts, and sporting events drive customers to ticketing websites hours (and sometimes days) before tickets are available, waiting to grab the limited spots before they are gone.

To complicate matters, scalpers and bad bots join the queue, ready to snap up the best seats before legitimate users and sell them later for exorbitant prices.

Imperva Waiting Room helps customers get a fair chance at the tickets of their choice by placing legitimate visitors into a virtual holding system where they remain until it is their turn to access your website. The Waiting Room puts you in control of site traffic, ensuring fair queueing in a First-in-First-out system, and helps you handle legitimate bots during peak times.
